

Christianity, The Dominant World Power

This Christmas Eve the world will again reminisce over an event which happened 2000 years ago, the birth of the Christ Child. At the time few were aware of the significance of that Holy night, for the world was suppressed with the power of the Roman Empire.

How odd that the birth of a child could change the course of history! Little did Rome know that the spark of her downfall began that night. Emperors and kings were to shake before His power. Empires were to rise only to be lowered to dust when Christian principles were forsaken. Today, a situation comparable to that at the time of Christ exists. The world is again threatened with military oppression. The only hope is to turn the pages of time back to that memorable night.

From the Christian story the world can derive strength to overcome its foes, courage to face its tyrannizers. Christianity is at present the dominant world force. In order to remain dominant, it must remain fresh, unchanged by the passage of time. It is only through the re-reading of the Christian story that the freshness and vitality can be retained.

Christmas Means Many Things

'And Angels Sang Peace on Earth Good Will to Men'

Some people, like the Junior College students above, stop first to realize that Christmas is God's Holiday.

'And Santa Claus Please Bring Me ....'

We will never know what Mary Ann Tutt, left, wanted Santa to leave under her tree. But Mary Ann says she thinks of the yuletide season as the time when "it is better to give than to receive, as the time when we count our blessings, remembering that God made this season the most reverent of all when he sent His only begotten son that on earth there shall be peace, love and harmony."

'Dig This Crazy ....'

"When I think of Christmas, I think of crazy people scurrying about like chickens with their heads off." That's what Jerry Antle said. Yet, when he got in the midst of the shoppers, lower left, apparently it wasn't so bad.

'If You Are Real Good, You May Get A Warrior Hat In Your Stocking ....'

Peggy Alexander and Farolyn Campbell, lower right, are quite contented since they discovered a Joplin Toyland and Raggedy-Ann.

Classroom Annoyances

If you are one who has longed to sound off on the subject of classroom annoyances, read on. Classroom annoyances are of two main types: animate and inanimate. Under the animate classroom annoyances are three bothers: Monotoners, the Must-Chatterers, and the Walkathoners.

Monotoner talks to himself or to his neighbor in a voice like a small roll of thunder. This is always present during the most important part of the professor's lecture or just when the next assignment is being made. Mono misses the point, as do his neighbors.

Must-Chatterer is usually a female but can be of the opposite species. She just MUST tell her neighbor about the latest prince charming or the new fall wardrobe. Yes, during class period. Her voice isn't quite loud enough for others to hear clearly. Soon, however, ears are straining to catch her words instead of the teacher's.

Walkathoner can't find a place for his feet. The Creator placed them on the ends of his legs but he must place them in various positions: on the seat ahead, usually kicking its occupant; out in the aisle; under the seat ahead; or, in the proper location, but with an accompanying, unmuted shuffle.

Inanimate annoyances come from lifeless articles in the hands of ——— (hesitate to call him a student) who prefers being anywhere except in the classroom. He sits and casually clicks his ball point pen in rhythm to the teacher's tone of voice. Soon the people seated nearest him are counting clicks and an important idea is lost.

Page-Turner continually thumbs through his notebook. He isn't hunting materials; he is just hunting. Each page falls with a noisy rustle. Those nearby fail to hear the instructor because of him.

Drummers are welcome in the band, but not in the classroom. This nuisance improvises a drum by keeping a rhythmic thump-thump going on his desk.

Classrooms are intended for instruction and concentration. These classroom annoyances are an encroachment on the mental attitude of the teachers as well as of the students. Annoyers should change their habits before the more studious are forced to arise and commit mayhem.

Bette Ferris Chosen TV 'Snow Queen'

A J.J.C. coed has been chosen to serve as "Snow Queen" on KS-WM-TV Santa Claus program. She is Bette Ferris, a sophomore, who is enrolled in elementary teacher training.

The white formal and glittering crown that Bette wears enhances her brunette beauty. Her duties are to lead the children in Christmas songs and help Santa read his mail.

Queen Bette is a cheerleader, and a member of Tri-Betas. She was a member of the College Choir in her freshman year.

Tune in at 5:30 p.m. to see the queen reign in "snow-land."

Freshman's Woe

When I came to college this fall, I didn't realize my mind was so small,

That within my skull was a dead air space,

And, much to my surprise a near hopeless case.

I thought of myself as worldly wise,

Little did I know, I was merely hypnotized;

But now the light shows bright and clear,

An "I" slip made me look in the mirror.

Dr. Pine Flies to N. J. To Obtain a New Dog

Dr. John Pine, history and sociology teacher at Joplin Junior College, flew to Morristown, New Jersey, November 23, to receive a new seeing-eye dog. The acquisition took approximately two weeks.

Dr. Pine's dog guide, "ever-faithful Artie," has gone the way of all flesh. He is suffering from an extremely severe nerve impediment brought on by arthritis. Dr. Pine has had Artie, his second dog, over seven years.

The social studies instructor was classified as a re-trainee during his visit to the Seeing-Eye School. A re-trainee is a sightless person who has already received the initial training required to command a "seeing-eye" dog. He must stay in training at the school until he has acquired the techniques of working with a new dog guide. This is often difficult, as the re-trainee picks up "bad habits" which must be ironed out while working with the new dog. The training for a re-trainee consists primarily in learning to give his animal proper commands in the proper tone.

2000 Have Seeing-Eye Dogs

Seeing-Eye, Inc. of Morristown, N. J. was formed in 1929 with the purpose of providing dog guides to sightless persons in the belief that such a man-dog arrangement would allow the sightless a greater amount of freedom and liberty of motion. Approximately 2000 men and women in the United States and Canada have received "seeing-eye" dogs through this organization. Seeing-Eye receives donations to cover approximately 95 per cent of the cost of producing a dog guide.

The majority of the dogs are either German shepherd or boxer. They receive training for work in all types of varied situations, such as in heavy traffic, in department stores, and on all means of transportation facilities.

A dog guide in the true sense is a seeing eye. To distract its attention or in any way alert his attention by whistling, calling, or petting him, distracts the dog from his primary function, which is to act as a guide for the blind.

Rev. Depew and Dean Litton Substitute for Dr. Pine

Substituting for Dr. Pine in his absence were Reverend Arthur DePew, pastor of the First Christian Church, and Dr. Maurice Litton, dean.

Peace Pilgrim Visits Juco

The "Peace Pilgrim," while visiting in Joplin last week, spoke to J.C. psychology and sociology students.

This graying woman, who declines to give her real name and goes by "Peace Pilgrim" only, is now on the second half of a 10,000 mile walk for peace. The first 5,000 mile trip was in a zig-zag pattern from Los Angeles to New York City. The second half will be spent with at least a 100-mile walk in each state.

It is the desire of the "Peace Pilgrim" to help obtain world disarmament and change the defense department from destruction to construction.

She explained the vows of her pilgrimage by saying, "I shall remain a wanderer until mankind has learned the way of peace, walking until I am given shelter, fasting until I am given food, and using the money given me to spread the peace message."

Besides the goal of "an end to all war," the pilgrim has a further goal: an inner peace for all. "This is the way of peace. Overcome evil with good, and falsehood with truth, and hatred with love."

The unknown wanderer stated that she intends to proceed on her journey until peace is an accomplished fact.

From Joplin she traveled to Little Rock, Arkansas, where she continued the second half of her walk for peace.

Mary Ann Tutt and G. J. Davidson Have Poems Published Nationally

Mary Ann Tutt will have a poem published in "Annual Anthology of College Poetry," according to information just received by college officials. Dennis Hartman, secretary of the National Poetry Association, announced the acceptance of the Joplin J. C. freshman's poem, "Penitence."

The Anthology is a compilation of the finest poetry written by the college men and women of America, representing every section of the country. The secretary stated that selections were made from thousands of poems submitted.

So far as the records show, Mary Ann is the first Joplin student to have a poem published in the national volume.

Lines from "Penitence" follow.
Who knows the depth of dead men's souls
Their thoughts in death as well as life?
Have they found peace within their graves
That can replace the mortal's strife?

Or is their final resting place
A void of nothingness and dark,
The end of love and love returned,
The absolution of life's spark?

Gilbert Highet Can Be Heard Sundays

National President of Classroom Teachers Speaks Here Twice

Joplin teachers heard Miss Elizabeth A. Yank, president of the National Education Association Department of Classroom Teachers, speak on "Public Education, Our Democratic Heritage" following a dinner meeting Monday night at South Junior High School. She spoke to the Future Teachers of America at Joplin Senior High Monday morning.

Miss Yank, who appeared at a Classroom Teachers' workshop in Jefferson City Saturday, came to Joplin with Miss Ada Coffey, who, as president of the Missouri organization, had attended the state meeting.

Miss Yank was secretary of the national department of Classroom Teachers from 1953 to 1955 and a member of its advisory council. She is a member of the League of Women Voters and of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary organization for women in education.

A poem written by Gilbert Davidson, Juco sophomore, appears in the November, 1955, issue of "The Golden Key," official organ of Phi Theta Kappa.

Davidson's poem, "The Spider," was written as an assignment in English last year and later appeared in the March 4, 1955, issue of the Chart.

He is a member of Eta Chi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa.

'Glass Menagerie' Production Time Set for Jan. 13

"The Glass Menagerie," the major dramatic production for the first semester, will be presented the evening of January 13 in the College auditorium, according to an announcement by Dr. B. G. Skillman, director.

Portraying the four characters in the Tennessee Williams play will be Donna McConnell, the mother; Karen Lipe, her daughter; Jerry Cooper, her son; and Phil Legg, a gentleman caller.

As the story unfolds, the confused mother, who possesses great vitality, clings frantically to another time and place. In her character there is much to love, pity, laugh at, and admire for certainly she has endurance and a kind of heroism. Though foolishness makes her cruel at times, there is tenderness in her slight person.

The mother, having failed to establish contact with realism, lives in illusions. But her daughter is confronted with a graver situation. From a childhood illness she is left a cripple. As a result of this misfortune, she becomes as one of her own glass collection, too fragile to move from the shelf.

The son is a slightly confused young poet with a job in a warehouse. The gentleman caller is a nice, ordinary young man.

Beethoven Film Initiates Series

"Eroica," one of a series of films to be presented here, was shown at 7:30 Wednesday night in the College auditorium. The general public was invited to see the film, which is a story of Beethoven's life.

Principal aspects of the composer's nature emphasized in this film are his passionate espousal of democracy and hatred of tyranny, his intense, if idealistic, craving for love, and the deafness which isolated him completely from sound.

Selections from Beethoven's music included in the film are portions of the "Eroica" and the Ninth Symphony; shorter passages from the Sixth and Seventh Symphonies; the "Moonlight Sonata"; the overtures "Leonore No. 3," "Coriolanus," and "Egmont"; the Prisoners' Chorus from "Fidelio"; and the "Hymn to God and Nature."

The picture was directed by Walter Kolm-Veltee and Karl Hartl. Musical editor was Alois Melichar. Music was played by the Vienna Philharmonic and Vienna Symphonic Orchestra conducted by Hans Knappertsbusch assisted by the Choir of the Vienna State Opera and the Vienna Choir Boys. Starring were Ewald Balser, Marianne Schoenauer, Judith Holzmeister, and Oskar Werner. American edition and titles were by Olin Downs.

Other films to be shown in the near future include "The Grand Concert," a ballet, and "Marriage of Figaro," an opera by Mozart.

Joplin Beats A.U. Freshmen Dec. 1

The Joplin Junior cage quintet of Coach Buddy Ball started their season Thursday night, December 1, at Memorial Hall by beating the University of Arkansas Freshmen by a score of 55 to 49. Mel Haynes topped the scorers with 19 points and Gary Smith added 8.

The Lions started off in the lead and were never caught by the Frosh. In the first quarter the Lions kept a 6 to 8 point lead and increased it by the end of the first half, 32 to 20. The third quarter found the Freshmen coming up on the Lions and finally within one point, 41 to 40. The Lions then poured on the coal and finished with a spurt, holding them to 9 points as they scored 14.

Coach Ball announced during halftime that in the future each member of the Lions will invite his home town high school to attend home games. Ralph Brock initiated the plan by inviting White Rock High School of Jane, Mo., to the opening game. Several persons from Jane accepted and were on hand to view the J.J.C. victory.

If you happen to be among the many who enjoy watching the Lions in action, you can promote their success by buying a ticket. Maybe you know a friend who would like to attend the games but does not have a ticket. Tell him
